Regions

STTACC is divided into five regions within Washington state. Each region has a Region Coordinator who provides a link between STTACC and region colleges. Each member college has a designated College Contact who acts as a liaison between STTACC and the classified staff at their college. College Contacts also compile and submit articles for the STTACC Chat quarterly newsletter. If you are interested in being a College Contact please contact your Region Coordinator. STTACC is always looking for volunteer College Contacts.

Purpose

The purpose of STTACC shall be to contribute to and utilize the staff development and training activities of member entities, to assist member organizations interested in classified staff development, and to maintain communication with offices and member organizations concerned with staff development.

Mission Statement

Staff Training for Technical and Community Colleges (STTACC) supports innovation, training and leadership by providing resources and connections to our classified staff members throughout Washington state.

Annual Conference & Exemplary Staff Award

Each year STTACC, along with a member college, host a conference. The conference provides professional development opportunities on various topics and a chance to network with other classified staff in Washington state. On the first night of the conference a dinner banquet is held and the Exemplary Staff Awards are presented. These distinguished awards will serve as an accolade to recognize one of the most critical attributes to a successful institution. There is one Exemplary Staff Award per region, per year.

Membership

Membership in STTACC is open to all classified staff employed in all Washington State Community and Technical College entities. A non-voting, associate membership is open to the Department of Personnel Higher Education Unit and other interested individuals who are not classified employees at a reduced rate.

STTACC Chat

STTACC has an official newsletter, STTACC Chat, which is published quarterly and distributed electronically to all voting and associate members in good standing. The Communication Coordinator assembles articles for this publication from STTACC Chat reporters at each college.

Website

The STTACC website provides classified staff an abundance of resources including opportunities for professional development, workshops, classes, speakers and trainers.

History

The STTACC organization began in 1978 when the Chancellor of Seattle Community College District VI announced that the college had received an Inter-governmental personnel Act (IPA) grant to share the District VI training model with all 24 community colleges within the state of Washington. In addition, the grant stipulated that a statewide-classified employee development advisory board should be developed by September 30, 1979.

Executive Board

The STTACC board is made up of the following officers; President, President-Elect, Past President, Secretary, Treasurer, Communication Coordinator, Webmaster, one Region Coordinator from each region within the State (A, B, C, D, and E), and the current Conference Coordinator. The Executive Board is responsible for the continuation, promotion, credibility, and success of STTACC.
